

Helping families stay healthy and happy

Your family can enjoy complete protection with these insurance policies.

Cash value life insurance and life insurance

- How can you guarantee your family's financial security if you lose your principal earner? Do you have any plans in place in case you or your partner should become disabled or die? Families need to think about preparing for difficult situations too – it's just part of life. Life insurance is always advisable for both parents, even if just one of them is working. Something else you maybe didn't know: You can use a Pillar 3a solution to finance your mortgage.

Health insurance

- Whether it's childhood diseases, vaccinations or checkups – mandatory basic health insurance covers all of these expenses. Your child must be insured before it is four months old. We recommend looking into all the different basic insurance options before the baby is born.

Supplemental health insurance

- Whether it's an emergency abroad, complementary medicine or correcting misaligned teeth – these costs are all covered under supplemental insurance. So it's a good idea to sign your child up for supplemental insurance while they're still little.

Personal liability

- As children explore the environment around them, the things they discover can get broken or damaged. This is why liability insurance is so important. And a good reason to review your existing coverage or buy a policy before your new family member arrives. If you already have family coverage, then your child is included.

Household contents insurance

- As your family grows, so do your acquisitions. So we recommend taking out household contents insurance or increasing your existing coverage to reflect the increased value of your household contents and avoid being underinsured.

Valuables insurance

- Whether it's mom's precious pearl necklace, dad's expensive wristwatch, or the valuable painting on the wall, nothing is safe from children's prying hands – even the expensive stuff. Things can easily get lost or damaged. This is why you should insure your personal valuables.

Travel insurance

- Unexpected change of travel plans because your child has gotten sick? Comprehensive travel coverage, and travel cancellation insurance in particular, save both your nerves and your wallet.

Legal protection insurance

- Is your child being bullied at school and not getting the protection they need? Are you having difficulties with your employer or neighbor? Legal protection insurance can be extremely useful for families because it provides assistance with a number of legal issues.
